Kilbarry™ EDGE Roller Ball

With the introduction of Kilbarry™ EDGE, Waterford's family of Kilbarry™ Writing Instruments leaps boldly into the 21st Century. The smooth and balanced feel for which Kilbarry™ is known now comes with a new "edgy" look, a lighter feel and an alternating grid pattern etched into a pen body sculpted from solid aluminum. Available in either a semi gloss black or gunmetal finish.

The classic Waterford "star pattern" is cut into the top cap of each pen, and the clip is machined from a solid metal bar in a manner reminiscent of the hand cut detail produced by Waterford's craftsmen. The platinum plated accents provide a striking counterpoint to the finish of the pen bodies.

Keeping with the Kilbarry™ tradition, the Ball Pen also comes packaged with a capless Roller Ball refill providing the user with an option in writing systems. The capped version comes in either a Roller Ball or a Fountain Pen with a German bi-color gold plated steel nib featuring a medium point.

WATERFORD[®]
Writing Instruments

The 18 kt. gold nib featured on the Waterford Lismore[®] series is a bi-color of rhodium plating over the solid gold nib. The iridium tip of the nib and exacting tolerances of the hand-crafted nib provide a smooth writing experience.

The deep guilloche cut patterns shown here on the Lismore[®] writing instruments are reminiscent of the cuts that are an integral part of Waterford crystal. Many Waterford Writing Instruments share this design heritage on their pen barrels and surfaces. Whether cut into the Platinum plated finish or subtly displayed under colors of transparent lacquer, the Waterford heritage is there.

The unique "star" pattern that appears on the top cap of most Waterford Writing Instruments is reminiscent of the same pattern that appears on the bottom of its Waterford crystal predecessors. This signature identifies your pen as uniquely "Waterford".

The Waterford Writing Instrument clip of spring steel or a solid forged ingot is shaped to evoke its heritage of the legendary cuts of Waterford crystal. Whether a wedge cut or a unique shape, each clip is easily identified as "Waterford".

ORIGIN AND HERITAGE

In 1783, two brothers, George and William Penrose, founded the Waterford Glass House in the ancient Viking city of Waterford. Thus began the tradition of making crystal in "as fine a quality as any in Europe... in the most elegant style".

The Penrose brothers knew the secret of mingling minerals to create crystal with beautiful mysterious qualities. When tapped it sang sweetly. When touched it felt soft and warm. The magnificent pieces created in Waterford's early period set the standards now recognized as the hallmarks of Waterford crystal: purity of color and distinctive, deep-cut patterns that reflect light into brilliant, dancing prisms.

By 1851, the fame of Waterford crystal had spread throughout Europe and America, culminating in several gold medals at the Great Exhibition. The mystique of Waterford and its place in Irish lore remained in the hearts and minds of many, and was reborn after the Second World War when furnaces began to glow again in Waterford.

By 1951, Waterford crystal was again on the world market reclaiming its pride of place. Since then, the business has grown steadily to its present day position as one of the most prestigious crystal gift brands in the world.
